Hancock County resident arrested on fondling charge

A 22-year-old Hancock County woman was arrested Thursday and charged with alleged fondling after a complaint was filed at the sheriff's office by the parents of a 4-year-old boy.

Investigator Delbert Seay said he expects additional charges to be filed after further investigation.

He added that five youth had been interviewed as of Saturday afternoon and that he intended to talk with at least two more boys.

The white female was released on a $10,000 bond.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson reported Saturday that Thomas M. Spear, 33, of Route 1, Box 470, BaySide Park, had been arrested and charged with the alleged growing, cultivation and possession of marijuana.

Peterson said a search warrant had been issued following information gathered by surveillance and from a confidential informant.

Approximately three ounces of marijuana and 20 plants were seized.

Spear was released on a $3,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing.

State Court sets Billiot execution date

An execution date for James E. Billiot of Leetown has been set by the Mississippi Supreme Court.

Billiot, convicted of capital murder in the 1981 death of his stepfather, Wallace Croll Jr., is scheduled to die May 15.

Croll, his wife who was Billiot's mother and a young girl who was Billiot's half-sister were beaten to death with a sledgehammer during a Thanksgiving Day robbery at their Leetown residence.

The justices made no comment on the case Wednesday when they set the execution date.

Also on Wednesday, the Supreme Court reversed a 1982 jury verdict in the case of Henrietta Bell, a Bay St. Louis woman who unsuccessfully sued the city for $150,000 in damages after she fell and was injured while leaving city hall.

In reversing the decision, the justices commented that the circuit court judge who heard the trial should have instructed the jury on comparative negligence, a statute under which negligence can be shared by two parties.

The jury had found the city innocent of negligence in a 1978 incident in which Bell reportedly slipped on wet grass left on the sidewalk in front of city hall after the lawn was mowed. She suffered a broken leg.

19 candidates vie for city seats

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Sylvan J. Ladner Jr. joined 18 other candidates in the upcoming municipal election Saturday during the final day for voter registration and candidate qualification.

City Clerk Edward Favre reported Ladner was the only candidate to qualify Saturday but that in the final three days before the deadline, seven candidates qualified.

He added that approximately 50 Bay St. Louis residents registered Saturday.

Favre said he believed there must have been a voter registration campaign underway Saturday because of the large number of inquiries about registration status.

"People have been calling all morning on all lines to the city hall," he said.

There are now about 4,200 registered voters, he said.

Favre said he expects the voting process to be enhanced by the new computer generated voting lists that will be ready for the first primary.

Three of four computer voters registration lists are complete and work on the final one is in progress, Favre added.

The first primary for city elections will be May 14. A runoff election will be May 21 if necessary.

The general election will be June 4.

Favre said there will be one change in the polling locations.

Ward 2 voters, who have voted in the Seminary Gymnasium in the past, will have a new voting location.

If approved by the U. S. Department of Justice, the new location will be at the Bay Junior High Auditorium, Favre said.

Other polling locations include Ward 1, the Garden Center on Leonard Street; Ward 3, city fire station on Old Spanish Trail (in the Valena C. Jones Complex); and Ward 4, Virginia Hall at Christ Episcopal School.

City voters will have three choices for mayor. The choices are incumbent Larry Bennett, Vic Frankiewicz or Kelvin Schultz.

Ward 1 Democrat candidates are Lisa Cowand, incumbent Gary Griffin and Charles Heitkamp. Harold Ritch is the Republican candidate in the race.

In the Ward 2 race, incumbent James C. Thrifflay III is facing two Democrat opponents, Ladner and E. J. Marengo and Republican Ward Buechler.

Vying for the Ward 3 council seat are three Democrats, Charles Johnson, Danny Johnson and Maurice Singleton.

Incumbent Ward 3 Councilman Harry Farve is not seeking reelection.

In the Ward 4 race there are four candidates. Democrat incumbent Sheldon Seuzeneau will face party members, John Wilkerson and Thomas Williams, and Republican James Mallini Jr.

Councilman-At-Large Wilmer Seymour has no opponent in his bid for reelection.

Little theater production begins Thursday

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will present Alan Ayckbourn's comedy, "How the Other Half Loves" at the Boardman Avenue theatre at 8:15 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Apr. 18-20.

Single admission tickets will be available at the door for $5, or patrons may purchase season memberships for this year's three productions for $10.

Director Nan Patton Ehrbright says Ayckbourn is one of her favorite contemporary playwrights. "He always has a gimmick to interest the audience and challenge both the actors and the technical crews," she said.

In "Absurd Person Singular" it's the time reference. Act I takes place on Christmas Eve last year, Act II on Christmas Eve this year and Act III on Christmas Eve next year.

In "The Norman Conquests"—which Hancock County residents may have seen on cable TV, it was telling one story from different characters' perspectives.

In another it was staging an entire play with three couples lying or sitting in three double beds lined up across the stage.

For "How the Other Half Loves," the gimmick is that the single set is the living rooms of two couples juxtaposed one upon the other with the action occurring simultaneously in both homes.

In addition, one scene takes place at dinner parties at the two homes on two successive nights.

The cast of six, playing three couples at varying stages of their marital relationships, includes five newcomers and one veteran to the Bay St. Louis stage.

"A cast of six is special to me," Ehrbright says. "It's small enough to have that treasured time to work with individual cast members to polish movements and line delivery in a way you can't with large casts.

And the cast members have time to have fun—to develop a rapport among one another.

Playing the "fabulous" Fiona Foster will be Gayle Roy, a relative newcomer to the Gulf Coast who made her debut in "Waiting in the Wings" for Gulfport Little Theatre last year.

Opposite her will be Edgar Perez as Frank, the somewhat stodgy pragmatic, whose prior appearance on the Boardman Avenue stage include roles in "The Butler Did It," "Love, Sex and the IRS," "The Odd Couple" and "Never Get Smart with an Angel."

The sparring Teresa and Bob Phillips will be portrayed by Penny Kelley and George Welman of Heron Bay. Neither have appeared on stage before but Kelley has been cast for a special upcoming Bay St. Louis Little Theatre production of "Ladies at the Alamo" and Welman has appeared in several movies and some 50 television commercials.

Rounding out the cast are Anita C. and Tom Jacobs of Long Beach, taking the roles of the naive Mary and William Detweiler who are hapless foils for the fabrications Fiona and Bob weave to explain to their spouses why they arrived home so late the evening before the play begins.

Serving as producer for "How the Other Half Loves," is Becky Rotundo. Stage manager is Brenda Heathcock. The set was designed, Ehrbright said by "group think limited"—with the group including herself, Becky Rotundo, Rick Rotundo and Tim Bourgeois.

"The set design was typical of what I love best about amateur theatrics. It's too bad so many people believe amateur means poor quality, because all it really means is that all the people who spend hours of time and effort putting a production together are doing it out of love, not for money," she said.

Quotables by CUEVAS

As most of you know, on Tuesday, May 14, primary elections will be held in the City of Bay St. Louis.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a political forum Wednesday, May 1, 7 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on Third Street, Bay St. Louis.

Citizens interested in having questions and issues submitted to candidates running for mayor and councilmen are urged to call the chamber at 467-9048.

We are hoping many of you will mark your calendar for May 1, so you can hear the comments of the candidates.

Political leaders need to know the issues of most concern by the citizens.

So, if you have any special issue or question, call the chamber as soon as you can, and try to be at the forum.

Tomorrow is the day many Americans hate to think about, the deadline for Income Tax Returns.

We are glad we have already completed ours and sent them in, but know of many folks who have not done so as yet.

We all seem to have a tendency to wait until the last minute, especially if we owe Uncle Sam a little.

Those who have completed their taxes and are waiting for the last day to send them in, be sure to remember to do so Monday.

If you have not figured your taxes yet, time is running out.

Today the BaySide Park Volunteer Fire Department would like to show anyone interested their fire station.

The group of volunteers will have an open house today at the new fire station on West Hinds Street.

We know many of the residents of BaySide are proud of their new fire station.

They have worked very hard in raising funds to help in providing fire protection for the area. Refreshments will be served.

It is good to see the new sign on US-90 for the future site of The Hancock Medical Center.

This is something we have needed for many years and the new hospital will mean so much to Hancock County.

We will keep you informed of when the groundbreaking which is scheduled for mid-summer.

Memo from George Dale, Mississippi Insurance Commissioner.

If You Have to Have an Accident, You'd Better Have Insurance.

Mississippi, along with every other state in the country, requires that if you have an accident where you are at fault, you must be able to prove that you're financially capable of paying for the damages and injury you cause.

The state law works like this—if you have an accident without insurance the state requires you to do one of the following to prove your financial responsibility:

1. Purchase liability insurance and give proof of that insurance to the state for three years.
2. Post a bond.
3. Post cash.

If none of these are complied with the suspension of your license and/or your vehicle registration may occur.

Simply put, if you have an accident and you're at fault, you'd better have insurance or the state will require you to buy it or post bond. Otherwise, you'll lose your license. The financial responsibility laws come into play after you've had an accident. They are designed to take care of and pay for future accidents. But what do you do about the accident that caused you to have to prove financial responsibility? How do you pay for it?

The cheapest move in the long run is to buy insurance—protect yourself and others.

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

DRINKING AGE RAISED

I had the distinct pleasure recently of signing the law that raises the legal drinking age for beer and light wine from 18 to 21 years old. The enactment of this law by the 1985 Legislature marks the end of several years of work by numerous Mississippi parents and students.

We who supported the law are convinced that it will save lives on our highways. Drinking remains the No. 1 drug problem in Mississippi high schools, but we are on the way to controlling some of the problem. The new law will play a major role in deterring our young people from drinking and from drinking and driving. About 400 people died in drunken driving accidents on Mississippi roads and highways last year, and the total economic impact amounted to $387 million in damages, including injuries, property destruction and lost work time. A large portion of these accidents involved teenagers who were drinking and driving.

Although the new law does not go into effect until Oct. 1, 1986, the movement that led to its passage has brought statewide attention to the problem. I believe this heightened awareness will enable us to better control the problem until the law goes into effect.

Additionally, our young people are taking the lead in assisting their peers and in making them aware of the dangers of this problem.

One program that is working to decrease the number of teen-age drinking problems is "Project Graduation," a graduation party that does not include drinking or drugs. The program was begun last year with Provine High School in Jackson the first school participating.

Project Graduation is a nationwide program that works with school administrators to devise alternative graduation parties that do not include alcohol or drugs. The Governor's Highway Safety Program has been involved in the development of these programs. In fact, last year at our first kickoff meeting for Mississippi 21, the project to raise the drinking age, we recognized the Provine administrators and students who were responsible for the success of the program there.

University students have also become involved in fighting the drinking and driving battle among our young people. Several Mississippi university students have formed task forces to promote public awareness of the problem and to designate non-drinking drivers for students who need this service.

The success of the new law and the two programs I mentioned here are testimony to the effectiveness of our Mississippi young people and the people who care about them. The Mississippi 21 project was successful because thousands of Mississippians across this state made their voices heard in the State Capitol and legislation resulted. I congratulate each of you who had a part in this movement.

Candidates served notice of voter's interests

Dear Editor:

An important election is coming up, and I would like to make public who I am 'For.'

To begin with I am definitely 'For' the candidate who not only wants to see Bay St. Louis with clean streets, but will take an active part in enforcing our anti-litter laws.

Also I am definitely 'For' better drainage where possible and mosquito control.

I am 'For' the candidate who will review our weak trash burning ordinance, and forbid the issuance of any type of permit for burning trash and leaves and garbage within our city limits.

Smoke pollutes the air, smudges up window panes, causes respiratory problems, creates a stench, and seems inexcusable with our excellent twice a week garbage collection and frequent trash collections.

Our votes are important—let's vote 'For' a beautiful Bay St. Louis, a pleasant place in which to live.

Thank you,
Joe Pilet

The Importance of Industry to Mississippi

By Bob Pittman, President
Mississippi Economic Council

In an extraordinary session in September 1936, the Mississippi Legislature declared it to be the public policy of the state that agriculture would be balanced with industry and that the "means and measures" authorized for promoting industrial enterprises would be matters of public policy.

In that same five-day session, the Legislature granted to "all new factories and new enterprises" established under the "Balance Agriculture With Industry Act" the right to exemption from all ad valorem taxation on tangible property used in the enterprise for a period of up to five years.

In the same act, local governments were authorized to develop and own sites and buildings for industrial purposes, with the facilities to be leased to industries agreeing to locate in the communities.

It seems fitting and proper that as Mississippi nears the 50th anniversary of its commitment to industrial development that Mississippians be reminded of the contribution industry has made to this state and to her people.

Among the first twelve industries located in Mississippi under its new public policy, four are, today, among the state's largest manufacturers operating either under original names or under new names. They are Ingalls Shipbuilding Corporation in Pascagoula, Grenada Industries in Grenada, Armstrong Tire and Rubber Company in Natchez, and Crystal Springs Shirt Corporation in Crystal Springs.

About the time Mississippi adopted its industrial development policy in 1936, the state's per capita income was 95 percentage points behind the average of the Middle Atlantic states; the Middle Atlantic states had a per capita income 32 percent above the national average while Mississippi was at just 37 percent of the national average. By the early 1980's, largely because of the state's industrial development effort, the gap has been closed to about 35 percentage points.

By the mid-1960's the state had reached its goal of 1936; employment in agriculture had been balanced with employment in industry.

Today more than 25 percent of the state's total work force is employed in industry. Manufacturing plants are located in 81 of the state's 82 counties, with Issaquena County the only exception.

More than 230,000 Mississippians are employed now in the state's 2,644 manufacturing establishments, according to the Mississippi Research and Development Center. Eighteen of those establishments employ more than 1,000 workers each while 1,302 manufacturing plants employ less than 25 workers.

The more than 230,000 manufacturing workers earn in excess of $3 billion annually, approximately one-third the state's total wages and salaries. Manufacturing employment, in fact, is the major source of personal income in 26 of the 82 counties.

Mississippi's industrial effort, now approaching its golden anniversary, continues to pay handsome dividends. In 1984 alone, 78 industries announced new locations in the state, 471 manufacturing plants made decisions to expand existing plants, and those new and expanded plants are creating 11,398 new jobs. The commitment to industrial development was made in order to create jobs, and Mississippi has more than 230,000 industrial jobs today.

But, are there other benefits?

In a 1978 study of the state's industrial development effort, the council concluded that "Mississippi's public policy for economic development is sound in theory and practice" and that "its incentive plans for business and industry have improved the quality of life for its citizens."

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce agrees with the conclusions of the council relative to the benefits of an industrial development effort.

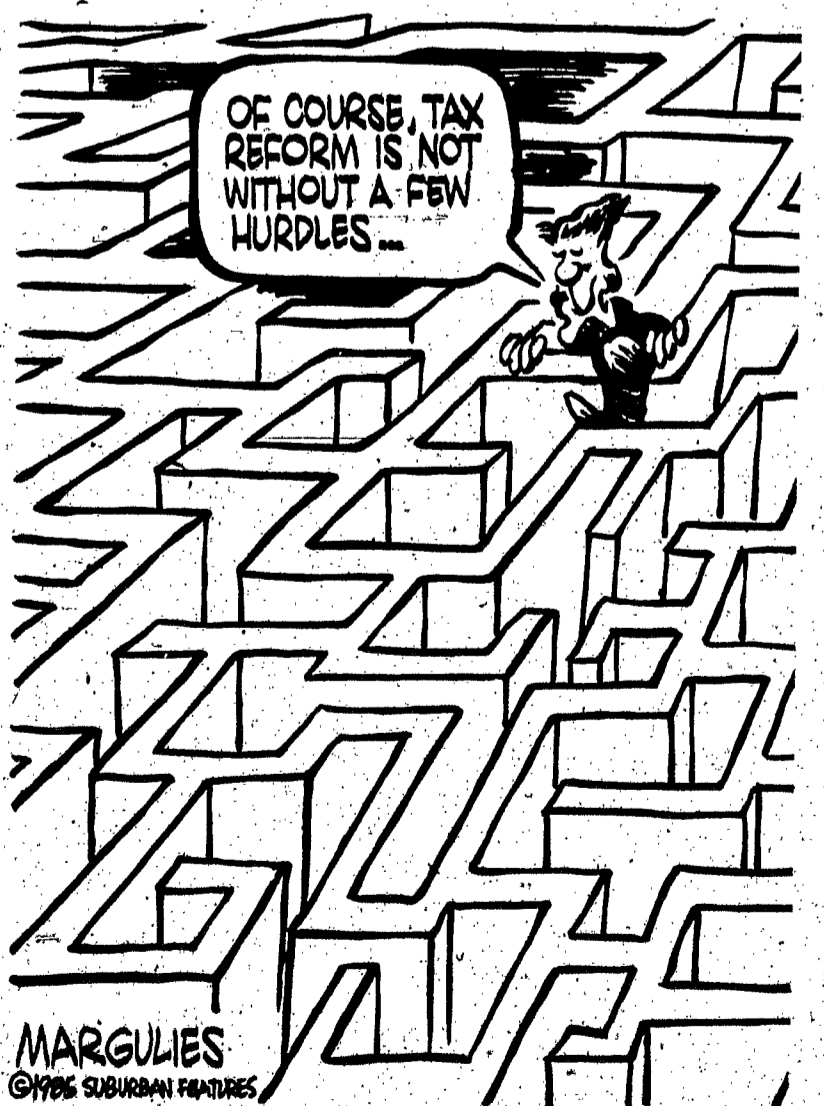

Chamber studies indicate that for each 100 manufacturing jobs created in a community, an additional 64 non-manufacturing jobs are created, an additional retail sales of $1.4 million annually are generated, and property tax revenues increased by $245,000, but with a per capita decrease in property taxes of about $13 per year.

It is the jobs—manufacturing and non-manufacturing, the sales, and the increased tax revenues which make possible the improvement in the quality of life, the housing, the better schools, the libraries, the roads and streets, the hospitals, and the recreational facilities.

And if Mississippians want to continue, quicken, and expand the improvement in the quality of life, certain steps must be taken.

In recognition of the benefits of industrial development and in appreciation for the benefits provided, Mississippians should commit themselves to the following principles:

1. Industrial development efforts must be continued and strengthened.
2. Appropriate incentives must be provided which will encourage the location and expansion of industry in this state.
3. A quality labor force must be provided as an encouragement to industrial expansion.
4. State tax and other laws must be fair to business, industry and to labor.
5. The state must encourage the development of home-grown industry which keeps profits at home.
6. The state must protect its favorable business climate.

Coast Episcopal PTO block party to feature jazz, hats and homes

THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, APRIL 14, 1985-5A

JAZZ AND HATS—Garden hats painted by local artists are modeled by Mrs. Alexander May, left, Mrs. Charles E. Richards Jr. and Mrs. Henry Z. Carter of Pass Christian. The hats and jazz by Walter Chamberlain with The Crescent City Sternwheelers and the Back Bay Jazz Schools.

Garden hats, hand painted by local artists, and jazz music will be added features of an annual Home Tour sponsored by the Parent-Teacher Organization of Coast Episcopal Schools Sunday, April 21 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Ticket donations of $15 per person also entitle the holder to tours of four Pass Christian homes and a luncheon.

Tickets may be purchased the day of the tour or in advance from Coast Episcopal Schools. A rain date has been set for Sunday, April 28.

The four homes are at Scenic Drive and Courtenay Lane and feature Gulf Coast architecture of tall windows, wide galleries and high ceilings that take advantage of soft breezes and attractive views.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Faris, 709 E. Scenic Drive, incorporates the typical style of a plantation home constructed of white clapboard. Built in 1850 by a Louisiana planter, the fanlight door and the cast iron railings are original to the house.

The home of Mrs. A.M. Dantzier,

701 E. Scenic Drive, was built in 1880 as a garconiere for the Faris home and was originally a one-story cottage with an inset gallery.

Over the years, the house has had numerous additions which have added to its present charm.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Geary, 107 Courtenay Lane, is newly constructed, yet fits into the historic cottage architecture of Pass Christian.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. C.R. Gallagher, 651 E. Scenic Drive, was built in 1875. The Courtenay family, for which Courtenay Lane was named, built this one and a half-story cottage with a square-columned inset gallery. Dormers and an elevator were added recently.

Traffic will be blocked off from Courtenay Lane during the event.

Two jazz bands will play: Walter Chamberlain with the Crescent City Sternwheelers and the Back Bay Jazz Band.

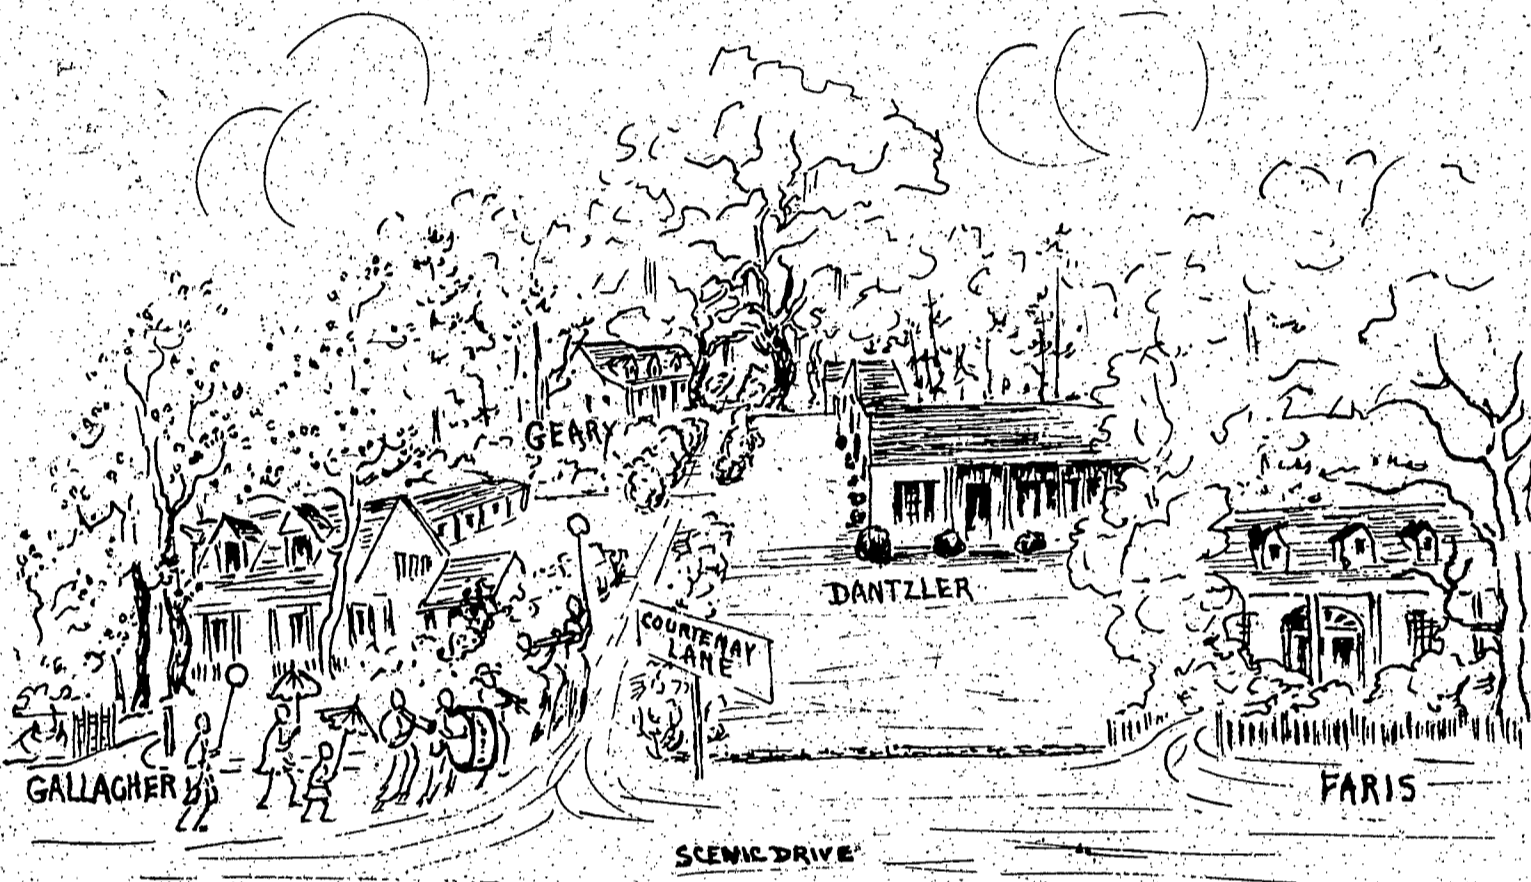

Mrs. Alexander May of Pass Christian, event chairman, stated that "Sunday at Courtenay Lane" has involved the work of many committees and chairman.

An original pen and ink drawing by Dot Hector has been used by Mrs. James Hourin for the invitations and by Mrs. Paul Westervelt for posters and publicity.

Mrs. Walter Chamberlain selected the jazz musicians.

Mrs. A.M. Dantzier helped secure the homes, and Mrs. Jerry Coleman has been working on the decorations.

Mrs. William Hartwell has tested recipe ideas and selected the menu.

Financial planning essential for retirement

By Beverly Riggs

MCES Family Economics and Management Specialist

Retirement planning involves more than simply saving money, investing prudently or clever tax planning. It involves balancing current personal and family needs against projected needs for the future.

The first step is to analyze retirement goals. These goals will be influenced by how far the family is from retirement and current demands on family resources.

Setting retirement goals is difficult for many families because the present seems more valuable than the future. Current needs seem to have an edge over future goals.

In deciding goals, some people think of short-term goals first - this month, this year, or the next five years. The most effective planning order at any age, however, is to begin with the future and work back to the present. Successful planners work their retirement strategies in with their plans for other key financial events, such as buying a home or educating themselves and children. Therefore, a provision for retirement is built into the family's more immediate plans.

Most families wish to maintain their level of living after retirement. To do so, low-income earners need to replace 75 to 85 percent of their pre-retirement earnings. Middle-income earners need to replace 60 to 70 percent, and high-income earners need to replace 45 to 55 percent. Married couples need to add about five percent more to these replacement amounts.

These figures are only general guides. Specific needs can be estimated by considering how spending patterns change as an individual moves from work to retirement. Some expenses will be lower, such as work expenses (payments into a retirement system, transportation, lunches and clothing); housing (if the mortgage is paid off); and federal income taxes (paid at a lower rate if taxable income is lower). Other expenses may be higher, such as insurance (if the retiree must pick up a share formerly paid by his or her employer); medical expenses; leisure time expenses; gifts and contributions; and property taxes.

Retired families spend a greater share of their money for food, housing and medical care than nonretired families. They spend an average of five percent more on food and medical care and eight percent more on housing.

Nonretired families spend three percent more on transportation, two percent more on recreation and one percent more on clothing. They also spend 18 percent of their income on taxes and seven percent on insurance. Retired families spend only six percent on taxes and two percent on insurance.

Spending in retirement will not remain fixed. The price of many things will increase throughout retirement. The effect of inflation can be especially severe for retired people who cannot easily increase their income.

Inflation and investment earnings will also affect the value of money set aside for retirement. When a family saves can be as important, and in some cases more important, than how much they save. A family saving a small amount of money today can end up with more retirement money than a family saving a much larger sum closer to retirement. For example, setting aside $2,000 at age 35 in a savings account earning 10 percent annually would result in over $10,000 more at retirement than setting aside five times as much ($10,000) in the same account at age 55. However, a 35-year-old with a growing family may have more uses for $2,000 than a 55-year-old has for $10,000.

For many families purchasing a home is more likely to meet both current and future goals than saving. A home provides needed shelter for the family, a good store of wealth for the future and, if paid for by retirement age, relatively low cost housing for the retired person or a tax favored asset to be liquidated for retirement income.

Catalog shopping on the increase

By Beth Duncan
MCES Clothing Specialist
Catalog shopping is on the increase, and clothing is one of the primary areas targeted to the new "home shopper." The very latest in fashion trends is available to consumers via the mailboxes.

Convenience is the main advantage to catalog shopping. It saves time, is available 24 hours a day, the selection is wide and impulse shopping is reduced therefore budget control is easier.

The main disadvantage is not being able to try on clothes to check the fit before buying. Also there is sometimes a time lapse between when an item is selected and when it arrives. There is little or no personal contact; therefore, it is difficult to get questions answered.

When buying clothes through the mail, buy from well-known firms when possible. Do not rely solely on pictures. Read the fine print describing the merchandise. Also, read the guarantee in the catalog. Order only if there is a satisfaction guaranteed provision.

When ordering by mail, print clearly or type all information on the order blank to assure proper delivery. Include complete catalog numbers, page numbers, description of items and other special information requested on the order form. State clearly on the order blank if substitute items are unwanted.

Keep a record of the order including date sent, a copy of the advertisement catalog page and the company's guarantee statements.

Check before ordering to see if an item can be returned. On reduced items, refunds, credits or exchanges are not always allowed. Personalized items in most cases cannot be returned so it is important to be sure of item suitability and size.

Examine the clothing as soon as it is received. If the article is damaged, different to what was ordered, does not fit or did not arrive when needed (provided ample time was allowed for shipment), notify the company promptly. Give all necessary information and return the shipping label with item. Use UPS or insured parcel post to return the item and get receipts. When returning, state preference for a refund or exchange.

The Federal Trade Commission has special regulations which protect consumer rights. The company must ship the merchandise within 30 days after receipt of the order. If the mail order cannot be fulfilled within 30 days, the company must notify the orderer with an option to agree to another delay of not more than 30 days or to cancel the order. When an order is cancelled, the company must refund the order within seven days.

If the company is unable to fill an order, it may give the orderer the option of crediting the money to a charge account. If this option is chosen, the account must be credited by the next billing cycle.

If unsatisfied, contact the company immediately by writing a letter of complaint. If the company does not respond, notify the Bureau of Consumer Protection, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C. 20580. Also write to Direct Mail Marketing Association, 6 East 43rd Street, New York, NY 10017.

If mail fraud is suspected, contact the Chief Postal Inspector, U.S. Postal Service, Washington, D.C. 20260 and the State Attorney General, 414 North State Street, Jackson, MS 39205.

ETV Brief

IS NOTHING SACRED?

One in four American citizens is Catholic. Yet, few seem to agree with—or follow—each and every doctrine and practice of their church.

The American Catholic Church and its relationship with the Vatican are covered in a "Frontline" report, "Catholics in America: Is Nothing Sacred," at 9 p.m., Tuesday, April 23, on Mississippi ETV.

In recent months, 24 nuns have been threatened with expulsion from their orders for speaking out on the abortion issue. Many Catholics admit to using artificial methods of birth control, in direct defiance of Papal decrees. Some American priests are publicly questioning church doctrine on divorce, remarriage, celibacy and homosexuality.

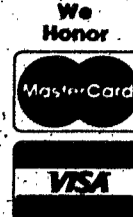

"Frontline" producer Irv Draxman talked with American Catholics and traveled to the Vatican to examine the state of American Catholicism today.

Consumer Update

Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

On shopping
Pump hand lotion, pump soap and now pump toothpaste have appeared. They may be handy and convenient but are expensive.

Pump toothpaste has been available in Europe for about 10 years. Now the big U.S. toothpaste makers are introducing pump containers. Colgate-Palmolive Co. brought out its Colgate pump this summer. Procter & Gamble Co. has been test marketing a Crest pump and Lever Brothers Co.'s Aim is available in a pump container now.

The Wall Street Journal says, "Aside from squabbles about the proper way and place to squeeze, tubes have been working perfectly well since the late 19th century. But the pump introduces an element of gadgetry, and fun, to the otherwise humdrum process of toothbrushing. Gadgetry, however, is no bargain: Toothpaste in a pump costs 20 percent more than toothpaste in a tube."

Consumer Report tested hand and bath soaps. The tests showed little difference among various brands in cleaning ability. The main differences are price, perfume, packaging and color. The liquid pump soaps were among the expensive ones.

The majority of the supermarket variety of bar soaps ranged from 19 to 56 cents per 100 washings. Liquid pump soaps from $1 to $3 per 100 washings. Liquid Ivory, for example, cost five times more than bar Ivory.

On checking accounts

The average monthly maintenance fee for checking accounts increased by $1.02 over the past three years. The average check-bouncing charge rose from $6.40 to $9.46. The cost of having your bank balance your checkbook rose from $3.35 to $9.72 per hour. Charges have increased to offset lower earnings on long-term customer deposits for these services.

Davenport representing Friendship Oak Chapter at DAR's 94th annual congress

Mrs. Philip R. Davenport of Bay St. Louis, regent of the Friendship Oak Chapter, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, is in Washington, D.C. this week representing the chapter at DAR's 94th Continental Congress.

During a meeting of the Friendship Oak Chapter held in the home of Mrs. Robert C. Willems of Parkwood Drive in Long Beach on April 10, Mrs. Davenport told the group that improvements to Constitution Hall and amendments to the Bylaws, recommendations from the National Board of Management will be voted upon by chapter regents and delegates at the congress.

Constitution Hall is the largest auditorium in the nation's capitol with a seating capacity of 3,752.

The building was dedicated to all the recognized heroes of the American Revolution, and from an artistic standpoint it is rated among the finest buildings in Washington.

The Board of Management has recommended that the building be climate-controlled to protect the DAR Museum, lineage research and genealogical records, and to provide a atmosphere for efficiency throughout the administration building.

Ramps and exterior walls of the building have been recently renovated. The project of climate-control is expected to span more than one administration, and the president general, Mrs. Walter Hughey King, seeks the approval of the delegates and through them the membership.

Friendship Oak Chapter was awarded first place in the state for Constitution Week projects, and an Award of Excellence in reporting.

During the Congress these projects will be reviewed for possible national recognition, Mrs. Davenport said.

Mrs. Nunez (Joe) Pilet serves Friendship Oak Chapter as recording secretary with the duty of issuing press releases, and is chairperson for Constitution Week activities.

Pilet said she had been given outstanding cooperation from the community and the news media making possible these recognitions for the chapter.

The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution is a women's organization whose membership is based on lineage with over 208,000 active members now on record.

The national society was founded for historical, educational and patriotic purposes on Oct. 11, 1890.

The organization supports schools, maintains a unique museum, an outstanding library, assists the cause of the American Indians, and helps the foreign-born to become citizens of the United States.

Over the years the DAR state and chapter organizations have been instrumental in preserving historic structures.

The society owns considerable property and has published a 346-page book on DAR-owned buildings, entitled 'Historic and Memorial Buildings of the Daughters of the American Revolution.'

Plauche-Gray residence to be setting for Episcopal Women's annual Silver Tea

"I was sailing on the Bay when I looked toward the shore and first saw the house. I fell in love with it at once and was delighted when I saw the 'For Sale' sign on it," says Charles Gray, one of the two new owners of the property at 806 South Beach, Bay St. Louis.

The house once familiar to local citizens as the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weston and more recently as "Marion Oaks," residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Baxter, has been renamed "Beachwood Hall."

From 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, it will provide the setting for the Silver Tea given each spring by the women of Christ Episcopal Church. Donations made at the tea will further the ecumenical work of the Episcopal group.

Charles Gray, a native of Waynesboro, Miss., has spent the last 27 years in business in New Orleans but now plans to be a permanent, year-around resident of Bay St. Louis.

His interest in his new home is rivaled by his pleasure in the rose garden, herb garden, and beds of annuals and perennials at the rear.

"In fact," he declares, "there is a beautiful view from any window of the house when one looks out in any direction, and I think the view of the Bay from the front porch could not be equalled."

Co-owner of Beachwood Hall is James Plauche, also a New Orleans businessman, who now spends as much time as possible enjoying the quiet and beauty of the Bay St. Louis area.

Beachwood Hall was built by Lionel Adams in the late 1850's. Its new name is a revised spelling of "Beechwood Hall," the home of Charles Gray's great-great-great-grandfather which was built in 1797 in the territory just across the north Mississippi border in what eventually became Tennessee.

Many of the beautiful furnishings of the present house came from the original Beechwood Hall and from Anchor House, the Gray family residence in Waynesboro.

Other objets d'art were purchased on numerous trips to Europe and the Orient.

Co-chairs for Wednesday's event are Mrs. Roy Golman and Mrs. Gary Gilmore.

Visitors attending the tea may use the parking areas at nearby Christ Episcopal Church if necessary.

CHINESE COOKING

East meets West when Chinese cookery wizard Titus Chan transforms traditional Eastern recipes into understandable American terms in Mississippi ETV's new cooking series, "Aloha China."

The series can be seen at 7:30 p.m., Thursdays, beginning April 18, on Mississippi ETV. It has been picked up by 156 other public television stations around the country so far, according to the series' distributor, IPS (Interregional Program Service).

The new series, a production of Mississippi Educational Television on location in Hawaii, features cooking from a variety of different regions in China. No studio sets were used. The kitchen where Chan presides during each half-hour program is a real kitchen overlooking Diamond Head.

In each program, he cooks one or two dishes and takes viewers on "field trips" away from the kitchen—to a Buddhist temple or to a Chinese bakery—and in some of the programs, he welcomes guest chefs for their demonstrations. Also, at the conclusion of each program is a demonstration by Chan in decorative vegetable cutting. Each program will be rebroadcast at 8:30 p.m., Sunday.

ATHLETES WORLD

"The Sporting Life," a new series covering the inner world of sports, premieres at 8:30 p.m., Thursday, April 18, on Mississippi ETV. Baseball star Jim Palmer is the host.

The ten-part series focuses on the excitement of sports by profiling the world of the athlete: the dedication, the drive, the secrets. Palmer goes behind the scenes to talk with such sports celebrities as George Starke, Washington Redskins offensive lineman; Jim "Catfish" Hunter, former star pitcher for the Oakland A's and the New York Yankees; and jockey Angel Cordero. And, "The Sporting Life" profiles unique sports teams such as the St. Petersburg Kids and Kubs of Florida's Three Quarter Century softball League, in which the minimum age of the players is 75.

THE LANGUAGE OF VICTORY

We all like the word "victory." We want victory for our team. The team trains. Exercise is necessary to build stamina and endurance. Team and school spirit must be built to have a successful team.

Christ will give us victory if we allow his word to build faith strong enough to gain the victory. We have the problem of gaining the daily victory over temptation.

Sometimes we are tempted to despair, to worry, and believe it can not be done. Our faith will enable us to overcome and gain the victory.

Paul said, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." (Philippians 4:13)

"All things" includes all those things which are right. The Lord will give us the strength. This passage must become a part of our conscious and subconscious mind.

Nehemiah led the Israelites to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem. Their enemies sought to stop them. Nehemiah built their courage.

He said, "In what place therefore ye hear the sound of the trumpet, resort ye thither unto us; our God shall fight for us." (Nehemiah 4:20)

We read in the book of Hebrews, "Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have; for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee. So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper and I will not fear what man shall do unto me." (Hebrews 13:5-6)

Here is the language of victory. Israel said, "Let rise up and build." (Nehemiah 2:18)

Nehemiah had prepared them by telling them "the hand of my God was good upon me; as also the king's words that he had spoken to me." When they knew God was with them and they had authority from the king, they were ready to act. This is the language of victory.

Solomon wrote, "In all thy ways acknowledge him; and he shall direct thy paths." (Proverbs 3:6)

He had prefaced this statement with, "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding." James taught that when we make our plans, we must realize the brevity of life.

He then said, "For ye ought to say, if the Lord will, we shall live and do this or that." Man needs direction.

Jeremiah said, "Oh Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himself; it is not in man that walketh to direct this steps." (Jeremiah 10:23)

This is the language of victory. David could say, "I have been young and now I am old; yet have I not seen the righteous forsaken nor his seed begging breads." (Psalms 37:25)

Our lack of trust in the Lord causes us many anxious feelings. Fear and worry becomes our existence.

Our faith must be strong enough to trust the Lord's statement, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matthews 6:33)

This is the language of victory. The secret of spiritual victory is a deep and abiding faith in the word and wisdom of God.

Waveland Players open adult situation comedy this week

In a marked departure from past shows, the Waveland Players are in final rehearsals for what their posters advertise as a play containing "adult situations and mild language."

"Subject to Change," an over-50 adult-situation comedy by Jules Tasca, will be presented at the Waveland Civic Center on Coleman Avenue for one 3-day weekend only.

Curtain times are at 8 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, April 19 and 20; and on Sunday, April 21 at 3 p.m.

Tickets are $4 at the door.

The lead role, played by the indomitable Alice Holmes, could be characterized as the last angry woman.

Ranting, raving, and attacking everyone and everything, the 62-year-old Madeline Basset is an excellent vehicle for Holmes' commanding presence on stage.

Archie Bunkerish in essence, with none of his redeeming qualities evident at first, Holmes later shows us Madeline's softer, more human, and terribly vulnerable nature.

Her sister, Gertrude, a slightly younger alter-ego, as it were, is handled with aplomb by Dottie Overall. The ultimate volunteer, she finds herself used and abused by all and sundry.

The plot unfolds around her desperate attempt to break out of the vicious circle their lives have become.

Their neighbor, Joanne, a thirtish matron played by Jeanne Marie Bell, practices the good-neighbor policy to such a degree that she is close to becoming a doormat.

Gertrude/Overall's "friend," Erwin Leeds, played by Ed Craig, is a well-to-do 64-year-old frustrated swain unfortunately tied to his mother's apron strings.

In the role of Mrs. Leeds, Barbara Jo Fitch gives one of her finest performances to date.

The 83-year-old Mrs. Leeds is a dowager—pardon the expression—in her cups. Fitch displays an excellent flair for comedy in the role.

Rounding out the strong cast is Ted Stechmann in the role of Mr. Pignitelli, a handyman/carpenter type, doing odd jobs for the two sisters.

He most assuredly will bring the house down at all three performances. A confrontation with the abusive Holmes/Madeline is simply marvelous: as is his entire performance.

Produced and directed by both Tommyann Fitch and Ted Stechmann, "Subject to Change" boasts the following crew: Russell Fitch, set construction; Tommyann Fitch, Richard Fitch, Jolie Fitch, and Ed Scanlan Jr., set decoration; John Holmes, sound; Derek Stechmann, Daren Stechmann, Joe Minas, Laurie Dahn, Dee Ferrell, and Elizabeth Hart, properties; Derek Stechmann, Daren Stechmann, and Joe Minas, lights; Betty Stechmann, tickets; and Richard Fitch, Elizabeth Hart, and Russell Fitch, concessions.

If given a current rating as are movies, the Waveland Players suggest a PG-13. "Subject to Change" should prove delightful entertainment ment for the more mature audience.

The Players' Board of Directors has voted to make the Sunday performance a benefit for a new Indigent Patient Fund at Hancock General Hospital.

All proceeds from the performance will go to the fund.

Questions about the Indigent Patient Fund may be directed to Ms. Susan Smith Stevens at Hancock General Hospital, 467-9081.

Remember family or friends with Special Occasion, Get Well or Memorial cards.
